

Professor Liezel Lues is an associate professor in the Department of Public Administration and Management at the University of the Free State and chairperson of the Association of Southern African Schools and Departments of Public Administration and Management (ASSADPAM). Prior to her appointment at the University of the Free State, she worked in Human Resource Management in the Free State Office of the Premier and the National Department of Water Affairs respectively. She holds a Doctoral degree in Public Management. Her experience and expertise lies within the fields of public sector human resources management and governance. She has published several articles and papers on topics in public sector human resource management, service delivery, leadership and public management. She serves on four (4) editorial boards namely the Journal for New Generation Sciences, Journal of Public Service Delivery and Performance Review, Retail and Marketing Review and Administratio Publica. She is co-chair of the working group VI – Public Sector Leadership and Governance of the International Association of Schools and Institutes of Administration (IASIA).