1. GENERAL INFORMATION

N.B.: It is important that students know the general University regulations and the Faculty regulations that apply to their degree/diploma programmes.

1.1 General University Regulations

The general University regulations that apply to all students and faculties are set out in the University's "General" Calendar book. Among the general regulations are those that deal with matters such as:

- what qualifications one must have to be admitted to study at the University
- how to register for a course. (These regulations include details on how to change courses, register for simultaneous courses, and whether credit will be given for work done at other tertiary institutions.)
- what is required to pass a subject, or to be awarded a distinction mark. (These regulations include rules and details about tests, examinations and special examinations, rules about marks, rules that apply if a student misreads the examination timetable, and rules about readmitting students to or excluding students from courses.)

1.2 Faculty Regulations

Faculty regulations relate specifically to the degree and diploma programmes offered by the Faculty of the Humanities. These regulations are to be found in this book.

1.3 General requirements to be admitted as a student to the Faculty

Generally students may register for courses offered by the Faculty of the Humanities if they qualify to study at the University. Some degree, diploma and certificate courses offered by the Faculty of the Humanities require students to have qualifications in addition to those that the University requires for general admission. Students must look at the degree and diploma programmes below to see if they qualify for a particular course.

1.4 Assessing students: Tests

Students are tested on each module "continuously" and "summatively". That means that they are tested on a part of the module as the module progresses (continuous testing), and are tested again on the module as a whole at the end of the course (summative test).

Though all modules are tested continuously and summatively, in practice the way the different modules are tested varies, and students must read the study guide of each particular module carefully to see exactly how that module is tested.

1.5 Examinations

Students of a module that does not use the promotion system and students with a module mark below 65% must write the examination for that module. To pass the module, a student must have a combined mark (that is, the module mark combined with the examination mark) of at least 50%, and the mark in the examination must be at least 40%. This mark is the Final Mark.

The University has two examination sessions per semester: in June and July for the semester modules of the first semester; in November and January for the semester modules of the second semester (unless specified otherwise) and for year modules. Students can decide whether they wish to write in the first session or the second session.

Students who write in the first examination session and get a Final Mark below 50% (i.e. they fail the module) may write again in the second examination session if they get 40% or more in the first session and their Final Mark after the first session is 45% or more. A student's best result will be the Final Mark.

Students who do not write in the first examination session do not have to give any reason for not writing: they are automatically free to write in the second session

Students who miss the first and the second examination sessions have no further opportunity to write the examination for a module. They will have to repeat the module.

Formal examinations of the University are by a paper of at least one hour for each module that carries 8 credits or more.

Students are awarded a qualification only when they have completed all the required modules successfully. Any module outstanding has to be repeated under the conditions of 1.1.

Students are awarded a distinction in a module if the Final Mark (module mark or combined mark) is 75% or more.

1.6 Timetable Clashes

The onus is on students to compile their curricula in such a way that they have no timetable clashes in either lectures or examinations.

2. BACHELOR DEGREES, UNDERGRADUATE DIPLOMAS AND CERTIFICATES

2.1 Students may gain their first qualifications in any of the following three areas of study:

1. Letters and Philosophy
2. Arts
3. Social Sciences

These three disciplines offer the various first degrees, diplomas and certificates that are mentioned on the Contents Page of this Calendar Book. (The three disciplines also offer postgraduate courses that are described in the Humanities Year Book for Postgraduate Studies.)

Nearly all the Humanities degree courses are Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) courses (from the Latin Baccalaureus Artium) or Bachelor of Social Science (B.Soc.Sc.) courses (from the Latin Baccalaureus Societatis Scientiae) and take a minimum of three years to complete. Occasionally a degree course is known by some name other than a Bachelor of Arts degree or Bachelor of Social Science degree, and occasionally the length of the course is other than three years. Where the name is different, or the length is different this is specifically mentioned.

2.2 Explaining the terms subjects, modules, codes and credits

The three fields in the Faculty of Humanities offer students a wide variety of choices. But within this wide area, each degree, diploma or certificate places a limit on students' choices and makes them concentrate on specific "subjects". For example, B.A. (to take the widest of the Bachelor degree courses) requires students to have at least two major subjects. These are subjects that students take for all three years of study. Students will also have minor subjects; these are subjects that they study for only one or two years.

Each subject is divided up into "modules", which are more-or-less self-contained parts of that subject. For example, Philosophy is a subject. It offers the following four first year modules: "Introduction to philosophy, worldview interpretation and ethical decision-making"; "The structure of experienced reality"; "Philosophical anthropology" and "Value paradigms and medical ethics". These four modules make up the first year subject of Philosophy.

Each module is known by a code that contains useful information. To take first year Philosophy again: the code for the module "Introduction to philosophy, worldview interpretation and ethical decision-making" is WYS114. The WYS part gives the subject, which is Philosophy. The first digit of the number (i.e. the first 1) gives the year of study: it is a first year module. The second digit (i.e. the second 1) gives the semester: odd numbers indicate first semester, even numbers indicate second semester. For example, WYS124 is a second semester module). The last digit gives the number of credits the module carries: multiply the last digit 4 by four, giving 16: WYS114 carries 16 credits.

Students must know how many credits each module carries, as each subject requires a certain number of credits for a student to pass.

2.3 The order in which students may take modules

The requirements for being able to take a module are set in the General Regulations (Reg. A8). In general, unless Departments permit modules to be taken in another order, students are accepted to later modules only if they have successfully completed earlier, preliminary modules.

2.4 Changes to courses and codes; students wishing to reregister under the new course system

Students who are registered for degrees or diplomas no longer listed in the Calendar of the Faculty of the Humanities may nevertheless under normal circumstances complete their courses in accordance with the Calendar of the year that they registered.

Students who registered before course changes may change their registration to an equivalent new degree or diploma programmes outlined in this Calendar. Students changing their registration must consult the lecturer in charge of the course about the credits they have and about what additional courses they may have to take.

2.5 Regulations for the shift from 8 credit modules to 16 credit modules

Students must take note that the modules listed below were originally 8 credit modules which are increased to 16 credit modules. The new 16 credit modules are listed under the heading "New codes". Students may only repeat the 8 credit modules in the subsequent year. If more than one year lapses before a student repeats the modules, the student has to register for the appropriate 16 credit module.

Handling of student who fail an 8 credits module in its last year of existence.

The conversion to 16 credit modules is to be phased in stepwise and chronologically, between 2010 and 2012. First year modules will convert in 2010, while the second and third year 8 credit modules will continue to exist. Second year modules will convert in 2011 and third year modules in 2012. Students who have to repeat 8 credit modules will be allowed to do so the following year only. If more than one year lapses before a student repeats the module, the student will need to register for the relevant 16 credit module.

The Programme for Social Service Professions offers a B.SW. four-year degree.

2. ADMISSION TO THE DEGREE, ADMISSION TO THE THIRD AND FOURTH YEAR OF THE DEGREE, AND COURSE FORMALITIES

- 2.1 Students are admitted to the degree if they fulfill the general requirements for registration at the University.
- 2.2 Only a limited number of students will be accepted into the programme due to a restricted number of practical training facilities. The closing date for applications of prospective first year students is 31 May. Late applications will be considered according to merit.
 - 2.2.1 Students who have completed the Career Preparation Programme must have passed all their mainstream subjects with at least 60%.
 - 2.2.2 All applicants are subjected to econometric testing. Applicants have to complete two scales, namely the "Career Planning Inventory" (CPI) and the "Personal Multi-Screening Inventory" (PMSI).
 - 2.2.3 After the completion of the econometric tests a personal interview will be conducted with the candidate. During the interviews a pre-determined interview schedule will serve as basis for determining whether a candidate is suitable to practice as a social worker.
- 2.3 In very exceptional circumstances, with the permission of the Head of the Department, students who have not passed all their Social Work modules may be accepted into the third year of the degree; but in general, students cannot take a later module without having passed the appropriate earlier module.

- 2.4 All third year Social Work modules have to be passed before admission to the fourth year modules can be obtained.
- 2.5 All clinical modules in the first semester of the fourth learning year have to be passed before admission can be obtained to the clinical modules of the second semester of the fourth learning year.
- 2.6 Students who interrupt their study for more than two years may resume only with special permission from the Dean in consultation with the Head of the Department.

3. IMPORTANT GENERAL DETAILS

- 3.1 Social work students registered for Social Work modules are legally obliged to register with the South African Council for Social Service Professions (SACSSP) from their second to fourth years. The registration subjects students to the ethical code and regulations of the Council.
- 3.2 The compulsory modules for the B SW degree require students to do clinical work under a staff member of the Department of Social Work, or under a registered social worker in the service of a welfare organization recognized by the University. Students must please note:
 - (a) The Department of Social Work is solely responsible for arranging clinical work.
 - (b) Clinical work may include holiday work determined by the Department of Social Work.
 - (c) While doing clinical work, students must comply with the requirements of the South African Council for Social Service Professions.

- (d) Students are responsible for all travel and subsistence costs during the clinical work. These costs are not included in the class fees.

3.3 During the fourth year, at their own cost, B SW students must research and report on a specialized area of social work.

3.4 Students are subject to the Rules for undergraduate learners in the Department of Social Work.

4. CAREER PROSPECTS

The B.SW. degree will develop in students the appropriate intellectual, practical and social skills for them to act effectively in the broad social service field as a social worker.
