1. GENERAL INFORMATION

N.B. It is important that students know the general University regulations and the Faculty regulations that apply to their degree/diploma programmes.

1.1 General University regulations

The general University regulations that apply to all students and faculties are set out in the University's "General" Calendar book. Among the general regulations are those that deal with matters such as:

- what qualifications one must have to be admitted to study at the University
- how to register for a course. (These regulations include details on how to change courses, register for simultaneous courses, and whether credit will be given for work done at other tertiary institutions.)
- what is required to pass a course, or to be awarded a distinction mark. (These regulations include rules and details about tests, examinations and special examinations, rules about marks, rules that apply if a student misreads the examination timetable, and rules about readmitting students to or excluding students from courses.)

1.2 Faculty regulations

Faculty regulations relate specifically to the degree and diploma programmes offered by the Faculty of the Humanities. These regulations are to be found in this book.

1.3 General requirements to be admitted as a student to the Faculty

Generally students may register for courses offered by the Faculty of the Humanities if they qualify to study at the University. Some degree, diploma and certificate courses offered by the Faculty of the Humanities require students to have qualifications in addition to those that the University requires for general admission. Students must look at the degree and diploma programmes below to see if they qualify for a particular course.

3.21.4 Assessing students: Tests

Students are tested on each module "continuously" and "summatively". That means that they are tested on a part of the module as the module progresses (continuous testing), and are tested again on the module as a whole at the end of the course (summative test).

Though all modules are tested continuously and summatively, in practice the way the different modules are tested varies, and students must read the study guide of each particular module carefully to see exactly how that module is tested.

3.21.5 The System of Promotion

The University has a "promotion policy" that allows Faculties and Departments to credit a student whose continuous and summative mark for a module is 65% or more with a pass mark or a distinction mark without the student having to write the final examination. The student's module mark then serves as the Final Mark of that module. A student may, however, still write the examination if he wishes to improve his mark (the mark will not be lowered).

3.31.6 Examinations

Students of a module that does not use the promotion system and students with a module mark below 65% must write the examination for that module. To pass the module, a student must have a combined mark (that is, the module mark combined with the examination mark) of at least 50%, and the mark in the examination must be at least 40%. This mark is the Final Mark.

The University has two examination sessions per semester: in June and July for the semester modules of the first semester; in November and January for the semester modules of the second semester (unless specified otherwise) and for year modules. Students can decide whether they wish to write in the first session or the second session.

Students who write in the first examination session and get a Final Mark below 50% (i.e. they fail the module) may write again in the second examination session if they get 40% or more in the first session and their Final Mark after the first session is 45% or more. A student's best result will be the Final Mark.

Students who do not write in the first examination session do not have to give any reason for not writing: they are automatically free to write in the second session

Students who miss the first and the second examination sessions have no further opportunity to write the examination for a module. They will have to repeat the module.

Formal examinations of the University are by a paper of at least one hour for each module that carries 8 credits or more.

Students are awarded a qualification only when they have completed all the required modules successfully. Any module outstanding has to be repeated under the conditions of 1.1.

Students are awarded a distinction in a module if the Final Mark (module mark or combined mark) is 75% or more.

1.7 Timetable Clashes

The onus is on students to compile their curricula in such a way that they have no timetable clashes in either lectures or examinations.

2. BACHELOR DEGREES, UNDERGRADUATE DIPLOMAS AND CERTIFICATES

2.1 Students may gain their first qualifications in any of the following three areas of study:

1. Letters and Philosophy
2. Arts
3. Social Sciences

These three disciplines offer the various first degrees, diplomas and certificates that are mentioned on the Contents Page of this Calendar Book. (The three disciplines also offer postgraduate courses that are described in the Humanities Year Book for Postgraduate Studies.)

Nearly all the Humanities degree courses are Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) courses (from the Latin Baccalaureus Artium) or Bachelor of Social Science (B.Soc.Sc.) courses (from the Latin Baccalaureus Societatis Scientiae) and take a minimum of three years to complete. Occasionally a degree course is known by some name other than a Bachelor of Arts degree or Bachelor of Social Science degree, and occasionally the length of the course is other than three years. Where the name is different, or the length is different this is specifically mentioned.

2.2 Explaining the terms courses, modules, codes and credits

The three fields in the Faculty of Humanities offer students a wide variety of choices. But within this wide area, each degree, diploma or certificate places a limit on students' choices and makes them concentrate on specific "courses". For example, B.A. (to take the widest of the Bachelor degree courses) requires students to have at least two major courses. These are courses that students take for all three years of study. Students will also have minor courses; these are courses that they study for only one or two years.

Each course is divided up into "modules", which are more-or-less self-contained parts of that course. For example, Philosophy is a course. It offers the following four first year modules: "Introduction to philosophy and view of life"; "The structure of experienced reality"; "Philosophical anthropology" and "Value paradigms and medical ethics". These four modules make up the first year course of Philosophy.

Each module is known by a code that contains useful information. To take first year Philosophy again: the code for the module "Introduction to philosophy and view of life" is WYS112. The WYS part gives the course, which is Philosophy. The first digit of the number (i.e. the first 1) gives the year of study: it is a first year module. The second digit (i.e. the second 1) gives the semester: odd numbers indicate first semester, even numbers indicate second semester. For example, WYS142 is a second semester module). The last digit gives the number of credits the module carries: multiply the last digit 2 by four, giving 8: WYS112 carries 8 credits.

Students must know how many credits each module carries, as each course requires a certain number of credits for a student to pass.

2.3 The order in which students may take modules

The requirements for being able to take a module are set in the General Regulations (Reg. A8). In general, unless Departments permit modules to be taken in another order, students are accepted to later modules only if they have successfully completed earlier, preliminary modules.

2.4 Changes to courses and codes; students wishing to reregister under the new course system

Students who are registered for degrees or diplomas no longer listed in the Calendar of the Faculty of the Humanities may nevertheless under normal circumstances complete their courses in accordance with the Calendar of the year that they registered.

Students who registered before course changes may change their registration to an equivalent new degree or diploma programmes outlined in this Calendar. Students changing their registration must consult the lecturer in charge of the course about the credits they have and about what additional courses they may have to take.

2.5 The following qualifications may be awarded in the Faculty of the Humanities:

2.4 A choice of at least two major courses

Students must choose two "major" courses from the list that follows 2.5 below. Students take these subjects for three years, registering each year in each of the two chosen subjects for modules carrying a minimum of 32 credits.

N.B. The subjects mentioned in 2.2 and 2.3 are also in the list. Students may develop the subjects they chose under 2.2 or 2.3 into major subjects, but must then take additional modules to make sure they fulfil the requirement of 384 credits for the B.A. degree.

2.5 The option part (minimum of 104 credits)

Students must acquire all further credits they need to make up the 384 credits prescribed for the B.A. degree from the subjects listed below.

3. THE LIST OF COURSES AND MODULES

Below is the list of courses and modules from which students must choose their two major courses [see 2.4 above] and the modules to complete the degree [see 2.5 above]. The number of credits each module carries is also listed.

	B.Soc.Sc. (Human and Societal Dynamics)
	Four-year curriculum
	Study code: 2303
	Development modules:	48 credits
	Mainstream modules:	384 credits

(1)1. ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Students must be in possession of an endorsed Senior Certificate with a M-count of 24-27 points.

(2)2. CAREER PROSPECTS

The B.Soc.Sc. (Human and Societal Dynamics) degree is valuable in careers where the knowledge of people, relationships and societies is important, typically in urban and rural planning, human resources management, the diplomatic services, community development, the police service, correctional services, the public sector, non-governmental organisations and social and market research.

(3)3. CURRICULUM

The duration of the B.Soc.Sc. (Human and Societal Dynamics), four-year curriculum, is four study years. The first academic year of the ordinary three year B.Soc.Sc.-degree (HSD) is extended to two years, and will be known as the first study year and the second study year.

Depending on whether a specialist degree or a broader, more general degree is preferred, students may choose from four options: a degree with (1) four major courses; (2) three major courses with further modules in a minor course; (3) two major courses together with a limited number of modules at the second-year level from other courses; or (4) two major courses with a wider choice of accompanying modules. A compulsory 8 credit community service-learning module (CSL112/122) must be taken in the final year.
