GENERAL INFORMATION

1. General Rules

The 2024 General Rules for undergraduate qualifications, postgraduate diplomas, bachelor honours degrees, master's degrees, doctoral degrees, higher doctorates, honorary degrees, and the Convocation (General Rules) of the University of the Free State (UFS) apply to all students and faculties, and hence to the degrees, diplomas, and higher certificate programmes of the Faculty of Theology and Religion. These rules deal with issues such as the admission requirements of the UFS, registration as a student, Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL), progression and articulation, requirements for passing, examinations, etc.

It is the responsibility of students to acquaint themselves with all the general rules relevant to their studies.

2. Faculty Rules

The 2024 Faculty Rules supplement the 2024 General Rules. Should a faculty rule contradict a general rule, the general rule will apply.

The curriculum rules in the Rule Book of the Faculty of Theology and Religion applicable during a student's year of first registration will remain valid for the duration of their studies for that particular qualification. It is the responsibility of students to acquaint themselves with all the faculty rules relevant to their studies.

3. Admission through Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

A person who does not qualify for admission to an academic qualification can, under the following guidelines, apply for admission in terms of a process of RPL:

- (a) A person in possession of a National Senior Certificate (as from 2008) or a School-leaving Certificate (before 2008), with at least five (5) years' applicable work experience, including formal and non-formal learning.
- (b) A person who is forty-five (45) years old or older, with more than fifteen (15) years' applicable work experience, including formal and non-formal learning, regardless of whether he/she has a Senior Certificate or not, may apply for RPL.

For more information, please contact the RPL Office at rploffice@ufs.co.za, or phone +27 51 401 7326/7327/7357.

4. National Benchmark Test (NBT)

Taking the NBT test is not required for admission to the Higher Certificate in Theology. However, it is compulsory for students who are registering for a first-time bachelor's degree to write the NBT before the registration period in January each year, i.e. in the previous year. Students in the Faculty of Theology and Religion write only the Academic Literacy Test. Visit the NBT website at www.nbt.ac.za or contact the university's NBT office (051 401 2448/nbt@ufs.ac.za) for more information.

Students who have not obtained a proficiency score of 64% or did not write the NBT, must register for the foundational language module in English (EALH1508) in addition to the minimum credit requirement to complete the degree. It is the responsibility of students to consider the module and venue timetable to avoid timetable clashes.

Students who have already completed a qualification at this or another institution of higher education are exempted from writing the NBT and from registering for EALH1508.

5. UFSS1504/UFSS1522

UFSS1504 is a compulsory 16-credit year module for all students registering for the Bachelor of Divinity at the UFS. Students registering for the second year of the Bachelor of Divinity Extended Curriculum Programme, and who have passed SCLL1508 in their first year of registration, will receive recognition for the first semester of UFSS1504 (UFSS1512), and therefore register for UFSS1522, a compulsory eight-credit module. No qualification can be obtained from the UFS if this module has not been completed successfully. It is the responsibility of students to consider the module and venue timetable to avoid timetable clashes.

The following students are exempt from registering for UFSS1504/UFSS1522:

- Students who have already completed a degree or diploma at this or another accredited institution of higher education.
- Students who are 30 years or older in the year of registration.
- Students who are working full-time and studying part-time.
- Students studying for the Higher Certificate in Theology. However, should these students progress to the Bachelor of Divinity Degree, they are expected to register for UFSS1504 in the first year of study.
- Should they progress to the Bachelor of Divinity Extended Curriculum Programme, they are expected to register for UFSS1522 in the second year (second semester) of the Bachelor of Divinity Extended Curriculum Programme after they have completed SCLL1508 in the first year of study.

6. CSIL1511/CSIL1561

The CSIL1511 module (Computer Literacy) is compulsory for all students registering for a first qualification in the Faculty of Theology and Religion at the UFS.

- The following students may apply for exemption from CSIL1511:
- Students who have already completed a higher education qualification.
- Students who have passed Computer Studies in the Senior Certificate examination with a D (Higher Grade) or C (Standard Grade).
- Students who have passed Computer Application Technology (CAT) at a Performance Level 5 (60%) in the National Senior Certificate.

8. Student Academic Records

Students can access official and unofficial documents such as the academic record, proof of registration and timetables via the student portal at <https://www.ufs.ac.za/kovsielife/student-self-service>.

Official academic records, transcripts and/or certificates of conduct will only be issued to students if the overdue amounts on their accounts are less than two thousand rands (R2 000).

9. Disruptions

To facilitate the impact of disruption like protests or pandemics, curricula delivery and assessment methods for both undergraduate and postgraduate qualifications may be changed at short notice to online delivery only through Blackboard as the official online learning management system of the UFS.

10. Undergraduate Assessment Rules⁸

10.1 All assessments in the Faculty of Theology and Religion take place according to a continuous assessment strategy. In a continuous assessment strategy, all the assessments count towards the final module mark.

10.2 A student is not entitled to any exceptions or concessions if she/he has erred in respect of the scheduled assessment timetable, or the submission of assignments or research essays.

10.3 Special assessment

Students in their final academic semester who have to prolong their studies to obtain the qualification subsequent to failing a single continuous assessment module, who participated in all the assessments and obtained a final module mark of at least 45%, can be awarded a special assessment of which the final format will be determined by the department.

The special assessment will cover all the module outcomes and provides a valid, fair assessment of the competencies required to pass the module. The mark obtained will be the final mark for the module (replacing all other marks).

This special assessment must take place during the week scheduled for supplementary examinations.

10.4 Pass requirements

Where a system of continuous assessment applies, a student passes when a final mark of at least 50% has been obtained and she/he has participated in all the assessments.

10.5 Passing with distinction

To pass a module with distinction, a student must obtain a final mark of at least 75% and must have participated in all the scheduled assessments.

⁸ For a detailed explanation of Assessment Rules for undergraduate, honours, master's and doctoral qualifications, please refer to the relevant section of the General Rules.

11. Undergraduate Progression Rules

Students must take note of the progression rules applicable to their specific qualifications as set out in the General Rules of the UFS as well as the Rule Book of the Faculty of Theology and Religion.

11.1 Progression rules of the Higher Certificate in Theology

If a student received an exemption from registration for a specific module/s, the progression rule formula will be adapted by the faculty and the student will be informed of the progression requirements that she/he must meet.

11.2 Progression rules of the Advanced Diploma in Theology

Students are expected to complete the diploma in two years.

Based on exceptional merit, a student who has not yet completed the qualification after two years may be admitted for one additional year. Such admission is subject to the Dean's approval on the recommendation of the Programme Director, with written notification to the Registrar.

11.3 Progression rules of the Bachelor of Divinity:

11.5 If a student received an exemption from registration for a specific module/s, the progression rule formula will be adapted by the faculty and the student will be informed of the progression requirements that she/he must meet.

11.6 NQF Levels:

A student will not be allowed to register for a module in a subject field at NQF Level 7 if the student still has a module outstanding at NQF Level 5 for that same subject field.

12. Graduation

Information regarding your graduation will be communicated via SMS to the cell phone number registered on the UFS database as well to your UFS4life email address. It is the student's responsibility to make sure that his/her contact data is correct.

For graduation-related queries, you may send an email to studentadmin@ufs.ac.za or visit the website <https://www.ufs.ac.za/kovsielife/graduation>

CAREER GUIDANCE

The Bachelor of Divinity's primary focus is to provide in-depth training and skills development for a career in professional Christian ministry. However, by carefully choosing electives the degree can be structured to open additional postgraduate studies and career possibilities.

GUIDE TO CHOOSING ELECTIVES

For the BDiv/BDivECP degree, students must complete 128 credits of compulsory electives. Of these 128 credits, at least 32 credits MUST be on NQF 6 or higher.

The elective modules will be spread over two years.

BDiv: Year One (64 credits); Year Two (64 credits)

BDivECP Year Two (64 credits); Year Three (64 credits)

Please take note of the following:

- Students are advised to choose the elective modules following the requirements of their faith communities. If your church does not require Hebrew and Greek, you can consider choosing modules that can open additional postgraduate studies and career possibilities.
- When you take Hebrew and Greek, you will not experience timetable clashes. However, most electives are offered by other faculties, and you need to check your timetable for clashes before choosing the electives.
- In some of the elective module packages, you have the option to register for a conversational language module in an indigenous language to which you have no previous exposure. This multilingual drive of the UFS is focused on building social cohesion, enhancing your employability, and preparing you for a multilingual work environment.
- It is recommended that the workload from elective modules be spread evenly through an academic year, e.g. 32 credits in each semester.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

PROFESSIONAL MINISTRY

If you are training to become a minister (priest/pastor/reverend) in a professional ministry, the Faculty of Theology and Religion highly recommends choosing your electives to study Biblical Hebrew and Biblical Greek, the original languages of the Old Testament and New Testament. Knowing these ancient languages in which the Bible was written will empower you with valuable and scarce skills that will dramatically enhance your ability to interpret the Scriptures.

We request that you contact the relevant representative of the training body of your denomination at the beginning of your studies to enquire about screening and/or selection procedures, as well as specific study requirements, e.g. Hebrew and Greek.

Upon completion of the Bachelor of Divinity, a student can articulate to a variety of postgraduate theological qualifications.

Postgraduate qualifications with a focus on professional ministry

To specialise in ministry development, students can articulate from the Bachelor of Divinity to the Postgraduate Diploma in Theology, which offers practical training and is recommended to be completed in the service of a church and under ministerial mentorship.

Students interested in specialising in ministry can also articulate from the Bachelor of Divinity to the Master of Divinity, which is highly focused on the integration of theological insights and culminates in the completion of a mini-dissertation.

Postgraduate qualifications with a focus on academic career development

Upon completion of the Bachelor of Divinity, students can also choose to follow an academic career path by completing a master's and doctoral degree in any one of the theological disciplines, e.g.

- Old Testament Studies
- New Testament Studies
- Systematic Theology and Church History
- Missiology
- Practical Theology
- Religion Studies
- Spirituality
- Bible Translation

BIBLE TRANSLATION

If you are interested in becoming a Bible translator, it is recommended that you take both Hebrew and Greek at the second-year level, and if you apply for 32 extra credits⁹, you can continue with one of these languages at the third-year level.

While it is recommended that you take both languages, you do have the option to specialise in only one. The undergraduate modules on Bible Translation, namely "Ancient Translations of the Hebrew Bible" (HEBR3754) and "Modern Translations of the Hebrew Bible" (HEBR3764) are highly recommended and can be combined with modules in Ancient Near Eastern Culture and Classical Culture, however, they are not a substitute for the required modules in Hebrew or Greek.

Completing the Bachelor of Divinity with a weighted average of 60% may give you access to:

- the Master of Arts in Bible Translation (BC970535), provided that you have taken 48 credits in Biblical Hebrew or New Testament Greek; or
- the Master of Arts in Bible Translation Management (BC970536).

⁹ Depending on a student's academic achievements, the Dean may, on the recommendation of the Programme Director, grant approval to a student to register for additional modules up to a maximum of 32 credits.

For more information, please contact Dr T Makutoane (+27 51 401 7334 or makutoanetj@ufs.ac.za).

BUSINESS MANAGEMENT

If you want to develop entrepreneurial and business skills, you can consider choosing elective modules in business management. Business management skills will enhance your congregational management skills and further studies in this field may open additional career opportunities.

Completing the Bachelor of Divinity with at least six undergraduate business management modules (64 credits at NQF Level 5 and/or NQF Level 6; and 32 credits at NQF Level 7) with an average mark of at least 60% may give you access to:

- the Bachelor of Commerce Honours with Specialisation in Business Management (BC660012).

Kindly take note of the following:

- There are limited spaces available in the undergraduate Business Management modules; and
- Admission to the Bachelor of Commerce Honours with Specialisation in Business Management is subject to departmental selection. Due to limited space, the 60% average will not guarantee acceptance to the programme.

COMMUNICATION SCIENCE

Modules in Communication Science can strengthen your communication skills as a church leader and further studies in this field can open additional career opportunities.

Completing the Bachelor of Divinity with a minimum average of 65% (in an NQF Exit Level 7 degree) with Communication Science with the relevant modules at the first-, second- and third-year level, may give you access to:

- the Bachelor of Arts Honours in Communication Science with specialisation in Leadership Communication (BC161741).

Kindly take note of the following:

- There are limited spaces available in the undergraduate Communication Science modules; and
- Admission to the Bachelor of Arts Honours Communication Science with specialisation in Leadership Communication is subject to selection and additional admission assessments may be required.

GENDER STUDIES

The COVID-19 pandemic brought the inequality of women in the workplace/society and issues like gender-based violence into sharp focus. A postgraduate degree in Gender Studies will empower you to work towards a better understanding of and possible solutions for this complex societal problem.

Completing the Bachelor of Divinity with an average of 65% on NQF Level 7 may give you access to:

- the Bachelor of Arts Honours with specialisation in Gender Studies (BC160027).

Kindly take note of the following:

- Admission to the Bachelor of Arts Honours with specialisation in Gender Studies is based on selection and additional language and comprehension tests may be required. We recommend that you follow any of the available elective packages.

PSYCHOLOGY

Modules in Psychology will empower you to better understand human behaviour and mental processes when ministering to people.

Completing the Bachelor of Divinity with at least 128 credits in Psychology on NQF Level 7 may give you access to:

- the Bachelor of Psychology Honours (BC16480).

Kindly take note of the following:

- There are limited spaces available in the undergraduate Psychology modules; and
- Admission to the bachelor honours programme is subject to selection based on academic performance in undergraduate Psychology core modules only. Application must be submitted online and specific information is available on the university's website. Applicants may also contact the Department of Psychology for more information. The closing date for applications for prospective students is 30 September of the preceding year.
