

Elections 2014: Political analysts at the University of the Free State available for comment

Prof Theo Neethling

Political Studies
and Governance

Theo Neethling has held the position of Professor and Head of the Department of Political Science at the University of the Free State since 1 April 2009. He is the author (and co-author in a few instances) of more than 100 publicised outputs in scientific and popular scientific publications.

Areas of interest: International peacekeeping in Africa; the role and function of the SANDF in South Africa's foreign policy

Topics for comment: Elections 2014 - Northern Cape and Free State

Language preference: Afrikaans and English

Contact: NeethlingTG@ufs.ac.za

Mr Mandlenkosi Mthombeni

Political Studies
and Governance

Mandlenkosi Mthombeni is a lecturer in political studies at the Department Political Governance, University of the Free State, Qwaqwa Campus. His research includes Causes and Effects of Xenophobia in South Africa as well as municipal unrest in the Free State.

Areas interest: State and political practice in South Africa Service delivery and electioneers

Topics for comment: National politics, Elections 2014

Language preference: English and Sesotho

Contact: 082 753 7618
mthombeniMS@qwa.ufs.ac.za

Dr Sethulego Matebesi

Sociology

Sethulego Matebesi is a Senior Lecturer and Chairperson of the Department of Sociology, University of the Free State. He holds a PhD (Sociology), MA (Sociology), BA Hons (Sociology) (cum laude), and BA from the UFS.

Areas of interest : Collective behaviour; service delivery protests; social change

Topics for comment: Political governance, local government, electioneering, service delivery

Language preference: Afrikaans, English, Setswana

Contact: 083 990 5510
matebsz@ufs.ac.za

For any other inquiries or requests, please contact René-Jean van der Berg at 083 645 5940 or vanderbergrij@ufs.ac.za

UNIVERSITY OF THE FREE STATE
UNIVERSITEIT VAN DIE
VRYSTAAT
YUNIVESITHI YA
FREISTATA

UFS·UV COMMUNICATION AND
BRAND MANAGEMENT
KOMMUNIKASIE EN
HANDELSMERKBESTUUR